THE POW WOW

of MISSISSINEWA
HIGH SCHOOL
Gas City, Indiana

Our school is the key to better living . . .

Here at Mississinewa the door of opportunity is open to offer us knowledge in many fields. We can follow any of six curriculums: academic, commercial, fine arts, agriculture, home economics, and industrial arts. In addition to our classes we also have a variety of clubs and activities to make our days here at school both profitable and memorable. Our patrons' investment, our new high school, is one that will pay worth while dividends in the future.

successful citizens . . .

On the main stairs is a top level discussion involving Mr. Meyer, Mr. Smalley, Miss Fesmire, and Jim Mitchell.

Our adminstration guides us

Our principal, Mr. Meyer; and our deans, Miss Fesmire and Mr. Smalley, handle the problems of administration for our high school. Mapping out four-year plans, attendance records, personal records, counselling, and guidance are some of the jobs done by these three key people. The business of running the school is a complex one; there are constant problems, and the burden of the administration increases continually.

Our school board determines system policies . . .

Our important issues concerning the operation of our school system and the welfare of the student, the final decision rests with the school board, the Mississinewa Joint Board of Control. Through the board's careful policies, our school is able to meet the needs of students by increased educational offerings and recreational activities.

Our superintendent's office doesn't deal with the direct problems of our students, but manages the general business of the entire school system. All finances, equipment, supplies, and endless records for our system and the state are taken care of by this office.

The superintendent's staff handles clerical problems . . .

Taking a break during the morning routine are Mrs. Marie Henschen, Mr. Hengstler, and Mrs. Gertrude Crosby.

"All in favor say 'aye.'" This expression is often heard in a session of the MHS Student Council.

Composed of all four classes, this group has the duty of supervising student affairs. The council is not all business; it also sponsors social functions: dances, convocations, student drives, and service classes for the student's pleasure and education.

STUDENT COUNCIL BACK ROW: David Linville, Larry Atkinson, Ben King, Fred Millspaugh.

For our camera enthusiasts, the way to learn about the fundamentals of the camera is to join the Photography Club. As a special project, the group sponsored a display of the winning pictures of the National Photography Contest.

The Mississinewa Indians came to the close of the basketball season this year with the excellent record of twenty wins and two losses. Many factors produced this exceptional record. First, of course, was the clean character and sportsmanship of the team members. Second, they were enthusiastically backed by every member of the student body. Finally, and perhaps the most important was the general feeling among not only the team members, but also the entire student body and faculty. Congratulations to the team, coach, and students for the right spirit which is so necessary in successfully completing a season.

During the Distributive Occupations class's trip to Indianapolis, climbing the steps of the Indiana World War Memorial are Merrill Miller, Sandra Swafford, Lynn Jones, Joan Simpkins, Jerry Moore, Lester Shiveley, and Jackie McClain.

MHS--11:50...let's eat.

"Hey, I want to buy a candy bar!" yells Gordon Stace to the deaf ears of Joyce Thurman, Carolyn Dilley, and Shirlee Swingley.

Preparing to "solo" for the operator's license is Bob Cragun. Besides the inspector and Mr. Hartle there'll also be a back seat driver, Marjorie Long.

On the set of "The Great Big Doorstep, the senior play, are stage crew members John Banks, Ben King, Jim Harris, and David Jacks.

"I can't believe it's so," states Gordon Stace while cast members Frances Knobloch, Curtis Shields, and John Guyer look on.

Make up crew members prepare the senior play cast cast for the big performance.

Nancy Maddox, Billie Jean Mills, and Sandra Swafford watch as Wayne Fry performs a pool ball trick appearing in the play.

Giving service to guests and local fans at our home basketball games are the ushers. STANDING: Dick Maynard, Tom Helvie, James Hinant. SEATED: Leroy Stephenson, Lester Gaskin, John Banks, Barney Butler, Bob Bosworth. FRONT: Charles Mitchell, Richard West, and Jim Helvie

Coach Stone outlines play strategy during the football squad's practice.

Performing for the reserve games are Cheerleaders Club members Maryanna Daily, Phyllis Judy, Georgia Poling, Patty Lightle, Carol Moore, Nancy Hengstler, and Judy Smalley.

Richard West serves as quizmaster during the Hi-Y initiation. Onlookers are Joe Noble, Dave McKelleb, Merrill Weaver, Eddie McGuire, and Donald Kirby.

Students of Miss Horney's advanced physical education class perform in a squad drill during an afternoon class session.

"Business is terrific," says Billie Jean Mills as she fills in during Mr. Meyer's absence. Assisting during the rush are Elaine Washburn, Joyce Thurman, and Jackie McClain.

Showing off their new letter jackets awarded at an athletic convocation are Dick Poling, Nelson Linn, Wayne Fry, Richard Thompson, Jerry Baldwin, Gene Linn, Ed Maine, Gordon Stace, Jim Millspaugh, and Merrill Miller.

Dick Thompson, Wayne Fry, Fred Oren, Rosalillee Wilson, and Dwight Gillespie want to know, "Have you bought your annual?"

Serving Miss Ellenwood during a faculty tea are Katherine Davies and Eva Jo Long.

World Day of Prayer program members are Betty King, Jerry Baldwin, Don Fanning, Helen Dawson, Joan Hyatt, Violet Herring, Bill Spaulding, Richard Day, and Marilyn Butler.
